

Non-School Related Absence Policy

Revised June 2023

At Futuraskolan International School of Stockholm we take good attendance very seriously, as there is a direct link between how often learners come to school and their academic achievement and social and emotional well-being.

Learners' attendance is recorded at the beginning of every lesson.

Attendance rates that fall below 90% over the school year gives serious cause for concern.

Attendance rates that fall below 80% over the school year are reported to Stockholm Stad, as legally obligated.

We cannot stop the parents or guardians from collecting their child(ren) from school before the end of day, if you do so, as a parent, you must:

- Report each absence on SchoolSoft.
- Keep in good contact with the teachers of the subjects missed and the mentor because her grades could be impacted/suffer.

It also does not guarantee options to make-up; exams, missed classwork, assignment deadlines or other missed instructions.

If the learner falls behind in their studies or there is a noticeable impact in the learners' social and emotional well-being due to frequent, consistent absence(s), the parents/guardian will be called in by the school leadership to meet.
